

Additional WJ III Resources

WJ III Audio CDs

The WJ III and DS Audio CDs contain the complete audio portions of the Woodcock-Johnson III and are ideal for test administrators who prefer to use a CD instead of a cassette. These CDs offer a convenient way to administer portions of the WJ III that require audio recordings, especially due to the random access feature of the CD.

WJ III Examiner Training Workbook

The Examiner Training Workbook (included with each WJ III kit) can also be purchased in packages of five for professionals conducting training workshops and needing extra copies. The workbook is filled with step-by-step examples showing how to establish basals and ceilings, score items, calculate raw scores, and obtain estimated age and grade equivalents. Other examples show how to read the Score Report generated by the WJ III scoring software. Practice Exercises give examiners an opportunity to test their abilities, and two reproducible checklists can be used as self-study or observation tools. We recommend that each examiner have their own copy of the Examiner Training Workbook, and that they follow the exercises and mark up the workbook to make it their own.

WJ III University Training Package

The WJ III University Training Package is designed to help university professors and training professionals teach others how to use the Woodcock-Johnson III. The WJ III Training CD-ROM can be used with either Windows or Macintosh operating systems and contains video clips of administration and scoring procedures as well as pre- and post-tests to help examiners learning the WJ III target their strengths and weaknesses. This university version of the CD-ROM also includes presentation materials in PowerPoint format that instructors and trainers can use, such as slides and handouts.

In addition, the package contains a copy of the Achievement and Cognitive Examiner Training Workbooks (included with each WJ III kit).

WJ III Training Video Packages

The WJ III Training Videos (VHS format) contain information on test administration and scoring of either the Tests of Achievement or the Tests of Cognitive Abilities. They feature actual test administration clips and include general administration rules, scoring procedures, and interpretive options, such as age/grade profiles. They also feature the WJ III authors discussing important aspects of the test.

A copy of the Examiner Training Workbook for the appropriate WJ III battery accompanies each video.

WJ III Self-Study Training Package

The WJ III Self-Study Training Package is similar to the WJ III University Training Package, but it is designed to help individuals learn how to administer and use the new Woodcock-Johnson III on their own. The CD-ROM contains approximately two hours of video clips of test administration and scoring procedures as well as pre- and post-tests to help examiners learning the WJ III target their strengths and weaknesses; however, no presentation materials are included.
